Photos that Changed The World: The Camera as Witness, the Photograph as Evidence (1989)

1975 – 1978 – Freelance photographer in Toronto – worked for all three Toronto papers, The Toronto Sun, The Toronto Star, and the Globe and Mail, as well as Maclean's Magazine, and various clients. Travelled the world and documented people everywhere.

1978 – 1981 – Staff Photographer for United Press Canada. Assignments included:

- Two federal election campaigns on tour with Pierre Trudeau, Joe Clark and Ed Broadbent
- Photographed the Canadians being evacuated from Iran during the Iranian revolution.
- Photographed major political figures, celebrities and the Royal Family.

During my time off during these years I photographed:

- Terry Fox on his run through Ontario.
- Spent for one month in Algeria, documenting life there.
- Spent one month in China as it opened up to the Western world on assignment for Canadian Airlines and Newcastle Press.

Sept. 1981 – Mar. 82 – Photo Editor for the Toronto Star, gained experience editing, assigning and page layout. Also continued my work as a Freelance photographer for Magazines.
